MRWED HITS A CORRESPONDENCE MILESTONE

October 2007: MRWED's popular correspondence course for the nationally recognised Certificate IV in Training and Assessment has just reached a milestone enrolment. More than 450 correspondence students from all over Australia have either signed up or have already completed their studies with MRWED. Students are assisted via email and telephone to enable them to ask questions and provide draft assessments for feedback.

MRWED has a strong commitment to helping Australians who live in rural areas and others who are unable to attend the popular face-to-face training. Just like face-to-face courses the MRWED Correspondence Course provides a high quality, price competitive course which has proven to be very popular.

"We understand the challenges that distance and remoteness play for Australian students. That's why it is important to us, to provide the same high level of support and feedback to all students regardless of whether they choose face-to-face, correspondence or blended learning options. We have now had more than 8500 students study with MRWED since 2000 and we recently hit the 450 student mark for correspondence enrolments for the Certificate IV in Training and Assessment, something which everyone here at MRWED is excited about" Said Mr Ratcliffe.
