

TOP TRAINER AWARD FOR MRWED CEO

6TH MAY 2009: US Training Magazine's second annual list of the best and brightest young stars in the training industry was announced this week. The magazine's Annual Top Young Trainer (TYT) Awards recognises the outstanding talents, accomplishments, and leadership exhibited by 40 learning professionals age 40 and under. This year, MRWED Training and Assessment's Marc Ratcliffe was named in the Top 10. "This is a great honour, given the fact that there are only four non-US based trainers in the top 40" Mr Ratcliffe said.

The young leaders that were profiled in the May issue were nominated by their industry peers last December and selected for TYT honours by Training editors and an independent judging panel comprising members of Training's Editorial Advisory Board. Award winners were honoured at an awards ceremony during Training's annual Training Leadership Summit, held in San Diego. "It has been a big week for us at MRWED, after placing in the Top 10 places to work in Australia by BRW magazine just last week. This means we are getting our business and our training right!" said Ratcliffe.

Marc is based in the Caboolture region, but delivers training throughout Australia in MRWED's national TAA centres in Brisbane, Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide and Newcastle. He has also delivered international programs in India, Indonesia, Singapore, Tanzania and the United States in the last 12 months.
